

A finished replica of the original model, cast in plaster of Paris, colored to indicate water courses and other features and lettered to show counties, principal cities, etc., is on permanent exhibition in the Museum of the California State Division of Mines, Ferry Building, San Francisco.